SUMMARY

As a student of computer science with a solid background in Java, Python, HTML, CSS, PHP, Flutter, and JavaScript, I am actively looking for an internship opportunity to make the most of my abilities and obtain useful business experience. Through a completed Flutter internship, I have practical knowledge in software development, web development, and mobile app development. I am excited to put my capacity for problem-solving, meticulousness, and teamwork to use while also learning about cutting-edge technologies like machine learning, web development, and database management.
